Geography Game

The first player says the name of a city, a state, or a country (Iowa); the next person has to come up with one that begins with the last letter of that answer (A—Argentina). Rules: You can't use the same place twice, and the places have to be real. You're out if you can't come up with a new place. The last one standing wins.

I'm Going on a Trip & I'm Packing?!?

Start with this phrase, then add what you're bringing. The next person repeats what you said and adds something else. A more challenging version: Players have to add things in alphabetical order (an apple, a beach towel, a camera). For younger players, make the game easy by not requiring that they recite all the previous items.
